The Weather.

For Kentucky—Probably rain Saturday. Colder by night.

President Roosevelt has reached Colon and made a stop. Panama will probably soon mark a period in his visit.

A former mayor of Owensboro, Jas. K. Sharp, is living alone in abject poverty and desolation in a lone "shack" on the river bank in Owensboro.

The Madisonville Journal takes a whole column of valuable space to brag on the new Y. M. C. A. building going up in that city.

Henderson is now on the verge of a telephone war, in which the Cumberland Company is seeking to prevent a local company from being granted a franchise.

In the wreck at Worthville, Ind., on the B. & O. Railroad, the official list of deaths contains the names of 61 known victims. As many children had no tickets, the coroner claims the list will exceed 100.

The Divorce Congress at Philadelphia has agreed upon a uniform law to be recommended to all of the States for passage. The sections of the divorce bill, covering the causes for divorce from bed and board, are adultery, bigamy at the suit of the injured party to first marriage, conviction and sentence of two years for crime, extreme cruelty to such an extent as to endanger the life of either or to make cohabitation unsafe, wilful desertion for two years, habitual drunkenness for a like period, and hopeless insanity of the husband.

A French court Wednesday granted a divorce to the Countess De Castellane (formerly Anna Gould, of New York,) and gave her the custody of her three children who, however, will not be allowed to be taken from France without the consent of their father, Count Boni De Castellane. They were married in 1895 and in 11 years the titled rake spent $8,000,000 of the $18,000,000 her father left her. The court refused him any allowance.

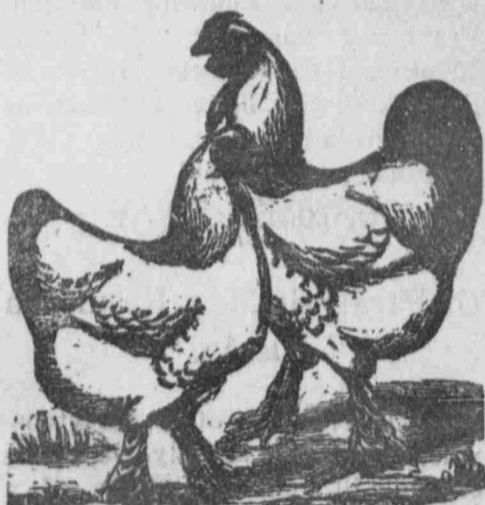

In seeking for an explanation of why Jim Richardson was beaten, the Franklin Favorite says: "A certain precinct in Warren county cast 107 votes in the Democratic primary last week for the candidates for United States Senator. The same precinct only cast 41 votes for Mr. Richardson, the Democratic nominee for Congress." Let us hope that the Democratic party will never again divide into factions while fighting a common foe. Let's have our primary elections and family quarrels on some other day than the regular election day. Democrats, unlike Republicans, are not educated to vote twice the same day.

The Directory for streets beginning with letters A to E, will be printed early next week. Any one who has moved in or out on such streets within the last 30 days, to get in the Directory must report the change at once to the Kentuckian office. Other streets will follow rapidly and all changes from now on should be reported promptly. Our ad. man will call upon the trade on and after Nov. 26.

Railways Pay Per month for trained office men. We can train you Rating, Telegraphing, Bookkeeping, Short-hand or Railroad Accounting and get you the position. We are the Official Training School for the Railroads of this section. We require our advanced students to spend two hours each day in the various railroad offices in Nashville, thus combining theory with practice.

IT WILL PAY YOU To get our catalog before deciding to enter elsewhere. If you cannot attend in person write for our MAIL COURSE at once. We also operate the Bristol Business College, Bristol Tenn.
NASHVILLE BUSINESS AND RAILWAY COLLEGE.

Poultry, Poultry, Poultry!

I have gone into the poultry business and would like for the farmers, produce dealers and hucksters to know that I am dealing in all kinds of poultry, such as Turkeys, Chickens, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Etc., and will pay as much, and may be a little more than any other man in town. It will pay you to call on me and get my prices before selling to any one else.

MAX MEYER, Buyer and Shipper.

P. S.—I also want calves from 6 to 12 weeks old. Good demand for them. Also hides and furs.

AS OTHERS SEE HIM.

Even from beyond the confines of his native state, words of commendation are being spoken of Governor Beckham, our present State executive, and future United States Senator.

The Birmingham (Ala.) Ledger speaks as follows, regarding Governor Beckham's recent victory and also in complimentary terms of the personality of the man himself:

"The young Governor of Kentucky has won a seat in the United States Senate at 37. He will be the youngest member when he takes his seat in 1909. Mr. Beckham was Speaker of the Kentucky Legislature at 28, was elected Lieutenant Governor at 29 and was Governor at 30. He took the governorship at a critical time, when many of the best people in the state were out of humor with the Democratic party. Beckham was considered too young for the great office when feeling was high and a governor was murdered in front of the State capital, and it was known that men in high position aided in the murder, abetted it before the deed and helped protect the murderers after the deed. The boy governor not only proved equal to the occasion, but to all occasions. He is worthy of the place he holds and of the place to which he has just been nominated. Indeed he is a wonderful young man. Any man is who can take Kentucky when all was chaos and bring all to order and harmony. Mr. Beckham has defeated one of Kentucky's great men. Governor McCreary has held many offices and has had all the honors Kentucky could give him. Mr. Beckham made a fair open fight after announcing long before hand that he would contest the seat of the senator. The people retired the old honored senator with the brilliant young man, who has done so much for the state."

The December Delineator is a typical Christmas number. It is sufficiently premature to assist Christmas-makers with its hints for Christmas gifts and holiday entertainments, besides containing an abundance of seasonable literature calculated to fit in from now until New Year's Day. Maud Ballington Booth contributes a most touching description of the work of the Volunteers, "Christmas Sunshine in the Shadow." Christmas stories for adults are "The Evergreen Tree," by Marion Ames Taggart and "The Shoplifter at Satterthwaite's" by William Hamilton Osborne, and those for children "The Blue Kimono," by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and "Betty Evolves a Christmas Idea," by Elizabeth Preston Badger. Agnes and Egerton Castle's romance "A Young Conspiracy," and Anthony's Hope's short stories. The Duke's Allotment" seems especially suitable for reading on winter evenings. But the crown of the Christmas literature is Edwin Markham's splendid poem, entitled "The Great Guest Comes." It is illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker.

Something Beautiful.

It is a little early for the distribution of calendars for the approaching year, but we were shown one of the handsomest specimens yesterday that our "peepers" ever rested upon. It was sent by Mr. Jas. F. Brewer, an old Christian county boy who is now proprietor of a large wholesale establishment at Palatka, Fla., to a relative in this city. The calendar must have been very costly, as it is very large and handsomely finished. The editor of this paper is pleased to note Mr. Brewer's success in the "land of flowers" and would also be pleased to be remembered with one of his handsome souvenirs, like the one shown us by his relative.

BIG MEETING

In Progress at West's Church
Near Kirkmansville.

Rev. B. F. Hyde began a meeting at West's Union Baptist church, near Kirkmansville, last Tuesday. The meeting will probably continue throughout next week. Services are held both morning and evening and large crowds are attending all the services.

The Council.

The City Council met last night in regular semi-monthly meeting, with several important matters up for consideration. The next meeting, December 7th, will be the meeting for the annual election of policemen.

$1,000 COURSE.

Season Tickets Find Ready
Sale—General Public
Interested.

The sale of season tickets is moving along nicely, and no fear that the 1,000 mark will not be reached, before the opening night. All who have been patrons of the course for the last two years sign up for season tickets, without hesitation, taking two where last season they thought they could only buy one. This looks good, and makes us feel that the public is interested in our efforts to furnish clean up-to-date amusements at a low cost. Some few have said: "I don't want season tickets but will go to two or three shows." Now to all these friends let us say, this is a mistaken idea. By buying season tickets you get these elegant attractions at the small sum of 25c each; if you pick your attractions you pay 50c or 75c each, and by the time you have enjoyed two or three, you have paid out as much as the season ticket would have cost you. Another thing you can't get is desirable seats. There will be no reservation this season. We see the mistake we made last year, and at the time tried to remedy same. This season you will be notified in advance, and the best seats go to the season ticket holders. Tickets are transferable, any member of your family can use them, so if you don't like music, or don't like a solid lecture, let some other member of your family, or a friend use your tickets. We make tickets transferable for this reason. These tickets are so low don't figure out how few you must or ought to buy, take the whole family—"Lyceumite."

ETLY'S DAUGHTER

Says She Saw Him Cut Her Mother's Throat.

Annie Ety, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Virginia Ety, who was murdered in her bed at 2416 Brook street, Louisville, early last Wednesday morning, made a confession to Chief of Police Gunther, in which she stated that the crime had been committed by her father, John Ety. Ety's arrest followed and he was confronted by his daughter at the jail, where he denied her story.

BIRDS ESCAPED

Although an Army of Hunters
Were In the Field.

The quail season opened Thursday and scores of sportsmen took to the fields, but as a matter of course few of them returned with birds. Nearly all of the farmers have their lands posted and most of the hunters who go out from town wind up in some old field shooting at an occasional rabbit.

Teddy Thanked

The United Doughters of the Confederacy at Gulfport yesterday adopted a resolution thanking President Roosevelt for the part he played in the passage of the act providing for marking the graves of Confederates who died in Northern prisons.

Teddy Denounced.

The Negro Baptist Association of North Carolina, in session at Salisbury, adopted resolutions denounced President Roosevelt for discharging the three companies of colored infantry.

Cockran-Ide.

Congressman W. B. Cockran and Miss Anna Ide, daughter of former Governor General Ide, of the Philip pines, were married Thursday night in New York.
